Dear Oliver,

A note from me, because somebody wanted to be sure I knew: your Christmas is the seventh of January.

I did know. It is in my book, in ink, next to your name. People think I only fly on one night, but I fly on the nights that are somebody's Christmas, and the seventh of January is yours.

So keep your day the way your family keeps it. Other houses have their own nights. That night is mine and yours.

With love,

Santa
